Reporter for court retiring

Myron Frazier, long-time certified court reporter in the 4h District Court, will retire at the end of December.

Frazier, who has worked in the local court for 27 years, received his training at the Academy of Stenographic Arts in San Francisco, Calif. He completed the course in 1956 and passed the state tests in

He worked for a year and a half in Holbrook, Ariz., Navajo County, as a certified short- k Company, Salt Lake City, Utah hand reporter in the superior ing in the 4th Judicial District.

He began as a court reporter here in January, 1961, working with Judge Maurice Harding for 10 1/2 years. In May, 1971 he became Judge George E. Ballif's court reporter. He has worked in the same position since that time.

When he began with the court, the judges were Har-ding, LeRoy Tuckett and Joseph Nelson and they served six counties. Later Tooele and Summit were added to the district. Now there are four counties in the district.

He had reported civil, criminal and sanity cases over the vears.

When he began, he said, there were not as many drug cases and very few sexual abuse or incest cases. The cases handled were primarily forgeries, robberies, burglaries and a few murders.

Frazier has reported several big cases, including the Winkle murder trial, the Godesky case that resulted in a large judgment against Provo City, and the recent George Wesley Hamilton murder trial.

Frazier was born and reared nine blocks west of the courthouse, and now lives in Orem. He and his wife Ellen are the parents of four sons and one daughter.

He was honored Friday at a reception at the county building.

CATHERINE HEGYESSY MOULTON

Catherine Hegyessy Moulton was born September 17, 1890, in Alliance, Ohio, to James and Florence Maud Tritt Hegyessy. When a small child she moved to Sacramento, California, and attended school there. After graduating from business college she secured a position as teacher at the same college until she was offered a position as secretary for a large firm in Sacramento. Here she took dictation, did typing, and court reporting.

HOW

On May 21, 1913, she came to Utah and married A. C. Moulton, but pursued her business career along with her duties as a wife and mother. She did court reporting, typing and shorthand for attorneys that were in Heber and for those who came from Salt Lake City for court cases. She rented typewriters from Salt Lake and taught business training to many young people of the valley.

She was clerk of the original draft board in 1941 and continued to serve in that position when it later became known as the Selective Service System. She was very capable and efficient, rendering untold service to this county until the time of her death, April 16, 1956.

Catherine was a convert to The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (1910) and was always active. She held prominent positions on Primary and Relief Society stake boards and taught in other auxiliaries of the Church. To her and her husband were born five children: Mrs. Ervin J. (Florence Fern) Anderson, John Barton Moulton, Mrs. Clyde V. (Delores) Miller, Mrs. Fay C. (Adele) Provost and Mrs. Niff (Addie) Murdock.

He believes the U.S. Constitution "is a great and glorious document, and we should support and defend it, but we don't do it by taking the law into our lown hands. We do it by making alterations within the structure which are appropriate for the time in which we live.

"Freedom is the opportunity to do what we ought to do, not the license to do anything we want," he said. "I deem it a great honor and privilege to be part of the legal and judicial system of this
